Dear Dick,

I can't tell you how happy we are with our new building! We are thrilled with our new school and thank you for working with us to make our dream come true.

The process of building a school requires a close working relationship with the builder and architect. We couldn't have been happier with the service and relationship that we have maintained with Zandri. The high level of professionalism and dedication of your company has been appreciated. They worked with the architect and all subcontractors well, and kept us well informed about our progress. We were very involved with all decisions regarding the school. Our Project Manager, Duncan Stewart, was available to help or consult with us at all times and managed the site with professionalism. After the building was completed, he has continued to provide us with support.

We were very happy that our project came in on time and under budget. I would look forward to working with Zandri on another project.

Sincerely,

Susan Kambrich
Head of School
